LIhua in my life

I've never touched your body, yet you've touched my heart and more,
Although I've never smelt you, your presence lingers at my door,
I've never ever felt you, yet my feelings are growing strong,
And now I've come to love you, it's in your arms that I belong.

I am yours completely, though you've never asked aught of me,
As your protector, rock, advisor, asking nothing, you are free,
Free to love me, want me, live with me, and fill each day with love,
Feel me love lift you up on wings, like a happy, cooing dove.

I want to date your future, adventurous and fun,
Let the love that I've learned from life shine with you in the sun.
I'm not giving you myself, because myself it giving itself to you,
Love makes fools or kings and queens of us, we will know that too.

You've earned my respect and admiration,
I hope just to gain your attention.
You've proven yourself with joy and fun, your every thoughtful action,
And when I get my hands on you, we'll start a chain reaction!

